

Narrative Story Chart

This folder chart was created to help a student put together the elements of a narrative story for a class writing assignment. There are five separate folders with some Mayer Johnson pictures and some Kidspiration pictures.

There are:

1. Who folder: This folder contains pictures of various fairytale characters, like a princess, a king, a dragon, etc.
2. Did What Folder: This folder contains a variety of pictures for actions.
3. Where Folder: This one has pictures of places.
4. When Folder: This one has pictures of times, like today, later, before, etc.
5. Why Folder: This one has pictures of reasons, like worried, scared, etc.

Each of these folders has pictures with a different colored frame around the pictures. Characters have one color, actions have a different color, etc. These pictures have velcro on the back so they can be placed on the story chart in the appropriate box. The story chart is divided into four lines: In the beginning, Then, Next, In the End. These are used to sequence the story events. After the chart is assembled, the story can be transferred by the student to the computer or handwritten on paper.
